Qualifications: As a small businessman... I feel the negative impacts of the current "pro-big-business" mentality that exists in Utah. It abandons "good worker" common sense policies that would instead shoulder the tax base as well as improve immigrant concerns, low wage households and small business strength.

As a taxpayer... I understand how the legislature is subtly shifting, year after year, tax burden onto moderate earners and the elderly by increasing our sales and property taxes in order to give income and corporate tax breaks for the powerful few.

As a long time conservative resident of Ogden Valley...I see a local political system that quietly allows for unchecked growth at the expense of small farmers, landholders, and disrespects good civil responsibility.

As a concerned citizen... I see a lack of public political involvement and more or less blind trust with incumbents, with the predictable results of money politics and political cronyism.

As a parent... I know about increasing classroom sizes and the critical challenges ahead for smart school reforms, importantly backed with proper funding especially in this period of continued calls for austerity by our state leaders.
